CAPITALISM AND THE CLIMATE EMERGENCY

Climate change is the most severe crisis of our time. The future of life on this planet is at risk. Despite the serious warnings of climate scientists, corporations around the world continue to be directed by their drive for profits. And the governments that represent their interests continue along the same path of environmental destruction. The future of our species cannot remain in their hands. The choice in front of us is clear – we have to organize our forces to save ourselves and life on our planet.

Unfortunately author Andreas Malm will no longer be able to join us for this event. Instead members of Speak Out Now will be hosting this discussion.
