FRIDAY 10/12

6:30PM-9:00PM Attica – a documentary film by Cinda Firestone

This film documents the events that began on September 9, 1971 when inmates at Attica State Prison seized the prison after months of protesting inhumane conditions. The uprising resulted in the death of 43 people after state troopers were called in to put down the rebellion.

SATURDAY 10/13

10:30AM-12:30PM The Crisis of Civilization and How to Resolve It - An Introduction to Ecocentric Socialism

Kamran Nayeri, Political Economist emeritus, UC Berkeley, is the publisher and editor of Our Place in the World: A Journal of Ecosocialism.

1:30PM-3:00PM The Middle East in the Era of Trump

Professor As'ad AbuKhalil, is Professor of Political Science at CSU Stanislaus and author of Saudi Arabia and the U.S.

3:30PM-5:00PM The “Gig Economy”: A New Form of Servitude for the Working Class?

Keally McBride is a Professor of Politics at the University of San Francisco. She teaches and publishes on a wide variety of topics, including punishment, law, decolonization, revolutions and political economy.

6:30PM-8:00PM France: "All together! General strike!"

Gilles Kobry, an activist in the French Trotskyist group, Fraction L'Etincelle, will discuss the recent struggles against the Macron government's enforcement of the Labor Law in France, as well as attacks on access to public education and the challenges facing the workers in France and throughout Europe.

SUNDAY 10/14

2:00PM-3:30PM Sports And Capitalism – How Sports are Used to Squeeze Public Money for Private Profit

Jules Boykoff, former professional soccer player, currently teaches political science at Pacific University in Oregon. Co-sponsored by the Anthropology and Social Change department at California Institute of Integral Studies, San Francisco

4:00PM-5:30PM The Challenges We Face Today – Short-Term Mobilizing or Organizing for Real Social Change
